

NORWEX MICROFIBER PRODUCTS RECEIVE OEKO-TEX® CERTIFICATION!

Norwex Microfiber products truly set the standard for excellence and performance. From our material selection, to weaving, sewing, trim and BacLock®, we ensure that the materials and manufacturing of our products meet the highest possible standard. Thanks to this commitment to excellence, many of our microfiber products have received OEKO-TEX certification!

What is OEKO-TEX certification?

OEKO-TEX is the world's best-known certification for product quality excellence in the textile industry.

Does the certification have a special name?

Yes. It is called OEKO-TEX STANDARD 100. The Norwex products listed below are certified under Class 1, which has the most stringent OEKO-TEX criteria. Products meeting the criteria of Class 1 also meet the criteria of Classes 2 and 3.

What does this certification mean?

The OEKO-TEX STANDARD 100 label is perfectly aligned with the Norwex Mission and certifies that every component of the product—from yarn, thread, dye and trim to buttons, elastic and zippers—has been tested and found to be free of harmful substances; so in essence, it is harmless to human health and will not release harmful substances into the soil, water or air.

How are products certified?

Each OEKO-TEX-certified product must meet the rigorous global STANDARD 100 criteria. Products undergo independent third-party testing, which occurs in Germany as per the standard developed by OEKO-TEX, and takes into account numerous regulated and non-regulated substances that may be harmful to human health. Test parameters include substances banned or regulated by law, plus unregulated substances that are known to be problematic. In many cases the limit values for the STANDARD 100 label go beyond national and international regulatory requirements. The current version of the STANDARD 100 can be found on the official website:
